Greetings, Joelle;

I'm very concerned about the state of non-point source pollution. There is aerial spraying on Oregon's private forests that get in the waters and has also harmed rural residents and their animals and organic farming. As human population rises and the toxins in our environment accumulate, we must take strong stands to protect the people and the surrounding environment. Water shortages and contamination are big concerns as we enter the climate chaos.

Please do everything you can to help protect our waterways and wetlands.

Thank you for the work you do,

[REDACTED]
